We have read with interest and, we must confess, with some sympathy the unfavorable evaluations of the report cabled in Reference B. We ourselves felt quite frustrated by the report and took it back to [B] for possible clarification before we sent our cable. However, in view of the fact that this was an intelligence requirement allegedly levied upon an agent and since it contained possible early warning intimations, we felt -- and still feel -- that we had no choice but to cable the report, unsatisfactory as it was.
